

Promoting the Reproductive Rights of Women with Disabilities and Deaf Women's Project Resource Launch Is Here!

Many self identified women with disabilities, Deaf women and service providers have generously shared their stories about their experiences in accessing sexual, reproductive and parenting information, resources and services.

Thank You!

Springtide Resources and Strength-based Parenting Initiative (SPIN) at the Centre for Independent Living in Toronto (CILT) will be holding a launch to release the findings of our research to all of the people who have participated in our focus groups and one-to-one interviews.

RSVP: Lynda Roy by May 12, 2015.

Date: Friday, May 22, 2015

Location: The Anne Johnston Health Station

Major Intersection: 2398 Yonge Street (approximately 4 blocks north of Eglinton)

Time: 10:00AM-12:00 PM

Contact: Lynda Roy @ 416-968-3422, 24 or email

lroy@womanabuseprevention.com

Attendant services and ASL interpreting services will be provided. Please contact us as soon as possible if you require other accommodations. We will provide light refreshments and TTC tokens. We do not provide child care. However, a child care expenses reimbursement of $15.00 per hour per family is available.

Project made possible by funding from the City of Toronto Access, Equity and Human Rights Investment Program.